

Resourcing & Techbar Services

Our resourcing services aim at helping your business to overcome challenges, maximise workforce efficiency and stay to competitive, through matching the best person to suit your needs. We also focus on facilitating IT professionals who are seeking a new career opportunity, allowing them to fully utilise their skill set. Our goal is to make employment more simple and easier for everyone. This is perfect for those clients who have flat or reducing head count and require specific projects to be outsourced for a short period of time.

By choosing Computergate, you are trusting your business in the hands of a company that understands all the ins and outs of the IT world. Computergate upholds a level of expertise and resources that are globally acquired, far exceeding most other IT employers' resources. Employers that engage our service are ensured that they are not just using another resourcing service but engaging in a relationship that does not just end when the job has been filled.

We Will Find The Right Person For You

We pride ourselves on being efficient, allowing your job to be filled as soon as we possibly can, without having to sacrifice quality. This is done through our extensive vetting process, making sure the match is perfect for your business. Our expert knowledge of the IT market allows us to have the most in-demand technical skills already at our disposal, primed and ready to fit into your business. We not only ensure that our options are professional but are also personalised to suit your business's needs and also have the characteristics to be a good employee for your company
